FEBRUARY IS PET DENTAL MONTH

Paumanok Veterinary Hospital recommends preventive dental care as the key to maintaining your pet's long-term health. Regular dental prophylaxis will help to keep your pet's teeth and gums healthy, and will improve his or her general well-being. Developing Good dental hygiene when your pet is young means a healthier, happier and longer life for your pet.

Little Joe's Pet tips

- Reduce the risk of oral disease by scheduling routine physical and dental examinations with your veterinarian.
- Brush your pet's teeth with specially formulated toothpaste. Toothpaste for humans is not recommended because it may upset your pet's stomach.
- Ask your veterinarian about special-diet foods that can help reduce tartar and plaque build-up on your pet's teeth.

High school students, REGISTER NOW for the LIVMA and Cornell Cooperative Extension of Suffolk County Veterinary Medicine Career Exploration Program. Interested students can call our hospital for more information. Program begins on February 28.
